

Junior Instrumentation FSE

The Junior Instrumentation Field Service Engineer is in charge of preparing and testing the equipment / software requested for the seismic project. It requires working on SBGS proprietary nodes, including charging and testing, as well as becoming familiar with Source Controllers, assemble and testing Source Controllers. The position will spend time offshore and help in all instrumentation activities on the vessel, including rigging a vessel and assist in daily operations.

Local candidates only - relocation not available.

Qualifications, education & experience requirements

- Associate's degree in Electronics or equivalent work experience
- Programming skills preferred
- Experience with Microsoft Office

Personality attributes

- Results oriented
- Determined/driver
- Able to work in fast-paced environment; multi-tasking
- Fast learner
- Consultative; asks questions

Interested candidates should submit their resume to recruit@sbgs.com. The position is open for resume submission until 30-January.